

MISS SCHAFER
MUST HAVE KNOWN
HER MURDERER

Practically All of the Detectives Who Have Studied the Case Agree Upon This Point, but Cannot Satisfy Their Minds as to the Motive of the Deed.

HE WAS PROBABLY UNKNOWN TO PEOPLE OF BEDFORD

The Fact Now Comes Out That the Young High School Teacher Had Made the Acquaintance of Two Men While Journeying on a Railway Train.

BEDFORD, Ind., Jan. 28.—The authorities investigating the Schaffer murder case intimate that they have a strong clue. "If the public knew what is in this letter Bedford would go wild," said Mayor Smith, holding up a square envelope addressed to himself, in a plain, bold hand. The mayor would not say whether the letter was anonymous or not, nor would he give the least intimation as to the nature of its contents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BEDFORD, Ind., Jan. 28.—To the question, "Who murdered Sarah C. Schaffer, the beautiful young teacher of Latin in the Bedford High School?" is added another, "Why was she murdered?"

The detectives today have adopted this theory in regard to the murder: He was known to Miss Schaffer, and probably unknown in Bedford; Miss Schaffer had some reason, not yet fully explained, for concealing the fact of her acquaintance with this man from her most intimate associates. This is the clue that makes the establishing of his identity so difficult.

The officers have information that shows that while Miss Schaffer was a model of propriety in almost every action, she nevertheless was a woman and was guilty of several little indiscretions.

Just before Miss Schaffer went to supper on the evening that she met her tragic death she wrote a letter to her roommate, Miss Eva Love, who was ill in Seymour at the time. The letter was left on the table unstamped. After the discovery of the murder the letter was opened, the import of which was this, though the language may not be verbatim:

"One of the men I met on the train wants to call on me. I say no."

Miss Schaffer had been out of Bedford but twice since coming here. Once she went to Paoli and the other time to her home in Elkhart on Christmas. On returning from her home after Christmas, two young men "struck up" a chance acquaintance with her. She was marking some examination papers on the train and the young men who sat across the aisle made some joking remark about being a school teacher.

Miss Schaffer afterward explained that she did not know just why or how the thing came about, but she found herself in conversation with the men. At Crawfordsville Miss Schaffer changed cars, entering a train on which Miss Lillian Stout, also a teacher in the Bedford schools, took the train. Miss Stout invited Miss Schaffer to sit with her, but the latter replied that she had a friend in another seat.

She then sat in the seat with her new acquaintance. Miss Schaffer caught a glimpse of one of these men, but she does not remember how he looked, as he sat in such a position that his face was not clearly visible. Miss Stout thought it strange that Miss Schaffer did not introduce her friend to her. Miss Schaffer had always been most anxious to introduce her friends on previous occasions.

On returning to Bedford Miss Schaffer received letters from both of these men, one of whom lived near Chicago. It is not believed that she ever answered these letters.

It is evident that one of these men grew impatient for a call upon her at Bedford, which is indicated by the fact that she considered his request of enough to write a letter to her friend about it. Miss Schaffer saved most of the letters she received. However, the letters from the men in question were not found among her effects.

Another thing that came to light today along a similar line was the statement of Miss Stephenson, daughter of the deputy prosecutor, who said that, with one of her girl friends, she passed Miss Schaffer on the street several months ago. Miss Schaffer was talking to a man, a stranger to the girl, and they are confident that he was not a resident of Bedford. The girls were somewhat surprised when Miss Schaffer did not speak to them, though Miss Stephenson said it was possible she did not recognize them.

"W. H." PROCLAIMS HIMSELF

MISS SCHAFER'S MURDERER.

BEDFORD, Ind., Jan. 28.—Marshall M. C. Russell today received from Louisville the following letter:

"I killed Sarah Schaffer. I intend to kill myself. I will drown myself at 2:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the river between Louisville and New Albany. In my pockets will be found letters from her that will explain all."

Marshall Russell at first was disinclined to treat the letter seriously, but on investigation and consultation concluded that the writer may be the slayer of Sarah Schaffer.

He telephoned tonight to Chief Ridge of Louisville, requesting the Louisville police to investigate this feature of the case.

Other letters have been received of a similar nature and pronounced hoaxes by the police.

At present the police say that they have no tangible clue.

STRATEGY CONQUERS CLERK;
GIRL OF 16 NOW A BRIDE.

Mrs. Elsie Bryan.

Mrs. Elsie Bryan, safely settled in a pretty flat at 239 South Jefferson avenue, laughs now as she recounts how near she came to backing out of the effort to secure a license to marry Roy Bryan.

She is not quite 16 years old, and when the marriage license clerk at Belleville took her and her prospective husband to the office window and pointed out the jail and told them that bad children who swore falsely to their age were taken there Mrs. Bryan hesitated and the party withdrew for a consultation.

Justice of the Peace Elijah Canady of Belleville suggested that four young men in the party offer to swear to Miss Emerich's age and see if that would not convince the clerk that a real oath was not necessary.

It proved to be that way, and a few minutes later Justice Canady had performed the ceremony.

Mr. Bryan and his mother and brother moved into the upper flat at 2313 Olive street four months ago. Elsie Emerich resided with her parents in the lower flat. It was a case of love at first sight with the young people and instant disapproval with Mr. Emerich, who insisted that his daughter was not old enough to consider marriage.

Mr. Emerich was not taken into the confidence of his daughter when the plans for the wedding Wednesday were made, but he has since relented and expects to take dinner with the young couple Sunday.

PRETTY MATCH;
PLAYFUL CHILD;
DEATH EXPECTED

Hospital Physicians Do Not Believe Little Agnes McLaughlin Can Survive Her Many Painful Burns.

BROTHER FIGHTS IN VAIN
TO SAVE TINY VICTIM

Mother Is Away From Home on an Errand When Neighbor Finds Children in the Midst of Spreading Flames.

Two-year-old Agnes McLaughlin thought the match was pretty when it flashed fire from under her brother Eddie's foot. She wanted it, and ran for it. When she picked it up, her clothing caught fire, and City Hospital physicians fear she cannot live. Agnes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McLaughlin of 413 Rutger street. Friday morning after Mr. McLaughlin had gone to the Four Courts for duty as a jurymen in Judge Taylor's division of the criminal court, Mrs. McLaughlin went on an errand to a nearby store, leaving Agnes and Jimmie, aged 5, in charge of 7-year-old Eddie, who was washing the dishes.

"I stepped on a snapping match as I put the dishes on the table," said Eddie to the Post-Dispatch, "and when Agnes saw it snap, she wanted it."

"Before I could get the dishes down she had got hold of it and her dress caught fire."

"I tried to put out the fire, but it burned faster, and Jimmie and I both ran to the door and screamed."

Eddie's screams brought Elmer B. Stanley, a member of fire company No. 16, who lives over the McLaughlin flat, and who just returned from work. He had just carried Agnes to his home for care and put out the fire in the McLaughlin flat when Mrs. McLaughlin returned.

The burns were so serious that the baby was sent to the City Hospital without delay. The right side of her face was blistered, and it is feared she inhaled the flames.

Eddie is inconsolable over his failure to put out the fire, but his blistered hands are testimony of the fight he made to save his little sister.

Judge Taylor adjourned the trial of O'Brien Goodall, charged with grand larceny, when a message announcing the accident reached the father, who was on the jury trying the case.

Four Years in Jail for $35 That Amount of Profit From Lock Game Proves Costly to Swindler.

Riley Wilson, a profit of $35 by practicing the lock game on Fred Gillander at the World's Fair grounds Nov. 7 will cost him his liberty for four years. He was found guilty of swindling in Judge Taylor's division of the Circuit Court for criminal causes Friday morning and sentenced to prison. A dozen times the men were thrown to their knees as the boat lurched or the poles slipped. But steadily they were going downstream and away from shore, and toward the icebreaker.

After two hours of the hardest kind of work they were opposite the tower, but almost a hundred feet away from it. Maas, cheering them on from his station, now threw a rope to them and they fell ashore.

But now a lucky opening in the ice appeared, and with cheers and renewed vigor the men took advantage of the chance. They were now in the ice, and at last a line thrown by Maas fell true. They were 30 feet below the tower now, but they hauled the boat to a landing platform and passed the provisions to the watchman.

There was no return trip. The men exhausted, climbed into the tower. The boat had passed, and until a relief expedition should come, they were in a bad way.

Maas needs their help; for, with the river in this season, and with the ice hammering and pounding at the entrance to the tunnel leading from the intake to the screen tank and the settling reservoirs on the bank the work of keeping the tunnel clear that a city's water supply may not be cut off is more than one man can do long and remain alive.

Maas has been doing this work alone since the ice gorge formed, and he has had to have an opportunity to rest more than an hour at a time.

In addition to the danger of complete exhaustion, Maas found Tuesday night that his stock of provisions was running low. He telephoned the fact ashore, and the 8 hours of effort to relieve him were begun. Over the telephone Friday morning Maas dictated this statement to the Post-Dispatch:

BY WILLIAM MAAS.

This has been the hardest winter I have ever experienced at the tower. I am afraid I should have given out if the brave fellows had not reached me last night. Nobody who has not been through such circumstances can understand what it means.

The work is harder this winter than it has ever been, and I was almost completely exhausted. Not only was I about to run out of provisions, but I was entirely out of tobacco.

That was the greatest hardship that has ever come to me. For two days I haven't had a cigarette, and I am now so weak that I am a mighty easy thing to go insane when one is shut off from tobacco and tobacco.

This has been the most lonely winter I have ever had. I have been alone here before, but in the winter before I had a little one in the family to take care of, and he had to go ashore. She and the baby are living at 437 North Second street, and I have to see them every two or three days; but if this home away from home is to last, I am afraid I shall never see them again.

FREEZING BOATMEN CARRY
ICEBOUND HERMIT RELIEF

Trio From Waterworks With Provisions, Reach Intake Tower on Third Desperate Effort.

BREAD AND TOBACCO SPENT

Relief Corps Will Remain With Wm. Maas Until Channel Is More Easily Passable.

Four men in a small boat, late Thursday afternoon, forced their way through the treacherous ice gorge in the Mississippi at the Chain of Rocks, and reached the intake tower, 180 feet from shore, with provisions for William Maas, keeper of the tower. Three previous attempts had failed—as veterans of the river had prophesied.

The first time the boat was carried by the ice to a point two miles down stream, and the men, their clothing coated with ice, were forced to walk back to the pumping station.

The second time the boat became jammed in the crunching ice, and for three hours it was all the crew could do to keep it from being smashed. They finally had to give up the struggle and push their way back to shore.

The third time, Thursday morning, the boat was swamped, and Jack Bresnahan, one of the crew almost drowned. His companions, after they had dragged him back into the boat, hurried with him to the boiler house at the pumping station to thaw him out.

The fourth attempt was made in the middle of Thursday afternoon. There seemed even less chance of success than at any of the previous trials. There was more ice in the river, and the cakes knocked and ground together and piled upon each other, with a force that threatened destruction to anything that ventured among them.

MAN OVERBOARD IN ICE.

But four men dared to try it. Bresnahan's place had to be taken by another volunteer; for his bath in the freezing water had served him well. Those who ventured were Philip Maas, a brother of the watchman; Charles Nolan, William Roach and Charles Wernicke.

The boat was hauled in a wagon to a point two and one-half miles above the pumping station. After it had been placed in the river provisions, carefully packed, were piled on it. Then the four men, with long poles grasped firmly, pushed out into the ice.

A dozen times the boat was forced almost back to the shore; but at each venture they gained, and after half an hour of pushing were out in the current, fighting the ice cakes for their lives.

They were never free of the jam. The little boat swirled and whirled first as often as snow drift—pushed by the poles and the currents between the jagged edges of the floating ice-pieces, or grinding unevenly over the surface of a cake that had yielded to the weight of other cakes and was submerged.

A dozen times the men were thrown to their knees as the boat lurched or the poles slipped. But steadily they were going downstream and away from shore, and toward the icebreaker.

After two hours of the hardest kind of work they were opposite the tower, but almost a hundred feet away from it. Maas, cheering them on from his station, now threw a rope to them and they fell ashore.

WILLIAM H. MAAS, TOWER WATCHMAN, CHAIN OF ROCKS.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—"If you'll help us, we will help you," was the word D. R. Francis got from Mrs. Manning, chairman of the board of lady managers, this morning.

"What's that? How can you help us?" Mr. Francis impatiently inquired.

"We have many friends in the Senate," pleasantly replied Mrs. Manning. "It did not take President Francis and Treasurer Thompson long to find out that this was true."

Mrs. Manning has been here three weeks waiting for this committee. Mr. Francis knew this, but he did not attach much importance to it. He knew she wanted $100,000, but turning down a $200,000 demand is comparatively easy with him.

Mrs. Manning had no notion of being disposed of so easily. She knows Washington and its ways as well as a United States senator. She was here when her husband was secretary of the treasury. She has helped to arrange national campaigns. She is a master political spirit in the society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

When Representative Francis told her she could expect no money directly from the treasury, she was not discouraged. She knew Francis and Thompson were coming to ask for a $450,000 loan. She went to her friends in the Senate and asked them to help her. They said they would.

She asked them to be rather indifferent to the requests of Mr. Francis and Thompson until she had received a promise of consideration. It did not take the World's Fair committee long to learn this morning that a large number of senators had promised Mrs. Manning just this sort of help. He is now giving the request of Mrs. Manning for $100,000 more earnest consideration than when he arrived. She may get the money.

Messrs. Thompson, Francis and House appeared before the Senate committee on appropriations this afternoon and asked for a $450,000 loan. They offer to pledge gate receipts and pay back at rate of half million a month after the fair opens. In one month a million will be paid back.

Senator Cockrell informed the committee before the hearing that the government would make an irrevocable contract if the money was advanced and would take no chances of losing a cent.

PANIC FOLLOWS FIRE.

Women in a Chicago Building Attempt to Spring From Windows.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Notwithstanding recent experience with smoke and flame, tenants of the Masonic Temple, a 2-story structure, failed to acquiesce today when a fire broke out in the Cosmopolitan building adjoining. The occupants of the Cosmopolitan made a hasty exit. On the upper stories of the Cosmopolitan a number of women became hysterical, and, springing from the windows, they were prevented from doing this and were carried down the fire escape.

Miss Norma Verba was so severely burned that it is believed she cannot live. Chemicals she was mixing on the sixth floor expanded and caused a fire. The woman was in a dying condition, was carried down as a fire escape by C. W. Randall, Cosmopolitan Light Co. Several other persons were burned but not seriously. The fire was confined to the fifth and sixth floors.

"SCOTTIE," JEFFERSON GUARD MASCOT, IS A FIRE FIGHTER

Scottie Takes a nap by the grate—fin.

"Scottie" has all the necessary qualifications to become a member of the World's Fair fire department. He is quite an ordinary dog with no blue-ribboned ancestors to boast of, but he is the mascot of the World's Fair Jefferson Guard and fully aware of the honor.

There is a soft spot for Scottie in the coldest of guardians' hearts, for he sticks to them with a bulldog's tenacity and combines in him the magnanimity of a St. Bernard with the cleverness of a smart French poodle.

No one knows just how he came to be the mascot of the guards, but the fact is that he has been identified with that body of soldiers ever since they began to drill on the grounds two years ago. They soon detected in Scottie the instincts of a soldier. At parade he lines up with them near the Press building and at the command "At-

CARLOADS OF MUSICAL TIMBER IN GREAT ORGAN.

Fifteen large furniture cars will be required to transport the great World's Fair pipe organ to St. Louis from Los Angeles, Cal., where it is now packed and ready for shipment. This is aside from the case, which is being constructed in St. Louis. The organ is the largest in the world, and has been heard in successful tests within the past few weeks by 15,000 persons. When set up in the Liberal Arts building, it will be 80 feet long, 20 feet high and 25 feet deep. It has 10,500 pipes, 400 speaking stops, 5 keyboards and 2 consoles.

SIX OF THE INTRAMURAL CARS ARE RECEIVED

Two round trips were made Wednesday afternoon by the "Arkansas," the first of the World's Fair intramural cars to be placed in commission. About twenty members of the General Passenger and Ticket Agents' Association were among the passengers on the first trip, and delegates to the National Editorial Association were passengers on the second trip. Six of the fifty-one cars have been delivered. The cars are of the pattern of those used on the Great Overland line of the transit company, with open sides, cased seats, double trucks, air brakes and motors fed by two trolley poles. Each has a seating capacity of 75. The color is dark blue, and on the dashboard the Exposition flag is painted. The cars are named for the various states, territories and foreign possessions of the United States.

thing keeps up I guess the boy won't know me the next time he sees me. I haven't been home now for two weeks; and it isn't likely I'll get ashore for the next month if things don't change some. I usually have plenty to eat, but it had been so long since anyone had been able to get out here that the store was getting low when I telephoned ashore Tuesday night. When the first three attempts failed I began to look sadly. It was a pretty even chance that I would be going hungry next week. I could have put up with hunger for a few days if my tobacco had not run out on me, but to be without tobacco and food both is rather more than a man likes to look forward to. There has been plenty of work to keep me from getting really lonesome. I don't really have much time to think about company for punching and pushing at the lo. But I was giving out under the strain. The next time I got ashore I am going to bring back a lot of food, and take the chance on getting back for food.

TAGGART AS MR. JONES' SUCCESSOR

Politicians Think He Will Be Made New Democratic Chairman at Convention.

ST. LOUIS RAISING $40,000

Subscriptions Being Rapidly Made to the Fund Guaranteed for the National Convention.

Final arrangements for the Democratic convention to be held in St. Louis, July 6, will be completed when the executive committee of the National Democratic body convenes here Tuesday.

St. Louis has guaranteed the committee $40,000, and this amount is rapidly being subscribed at the present time, the contributors including the representatives of all lines of business.

Former United States Senator James K. Jones is chairman of the national executive committee and also of the general organization committee; Dr. J. G. Johnson, Peabody, Kan., vice-president, and C. A. Walsh of Ottumwa, Ia., secretary. The other members are W. J. Stone, Missouri; H. D. Clayton, Alabama; D. J. Campau, Michigan; Thomas Gahan, Chicago; J. M. Coffey, Pennsylvania; George Fred Williams, Massachusetts; T. D. O'Brien, Minnesota; Thomas Taggart, Indiana; James C. Dahlman, Omaha, and Norman E. Mack, New York.

Well-posted politicians say there will be many changes in the personnel of the national committee after the convention meets and the new members are elected, but until that time the old body is in supreme control of affairs, dictates the preliminary organization of the convention and passes on all disputes that may arise.

Jones Slated for Retirement.

One of the changes which the politicians look for will be the retirement of Senator Jones as chairman. Jones was overwhelmingly defeated for re-election to the United States Senate from Arkansas two years ago. His opponent was James P. Clark of Russellville. The fact that he was one of the controlling stockholders in the American Cottonbale Trust constituted the single issue upon which Jones met his Waterloo.

Senator William J. Stone, vice-chairman of the committee, it is said, is also slated for a back seat. The bawling power deal has settled Stone's fate with the big Democratic leaders.

Missouri Democrats are inclined to favor Mayor Taggart of Indianapolis for the position of chairman of the national committee. Taggart is not considered an extremist, and he has warm friends among the influential leaders of the East and South.

Pink carnations were the favorite flower of President McKinley, and during his first campaign for President they became famous. Mr. McKinley never appearing in public without the flower on his lapel.

The movement for "Carnation Day" started soon after his assassination and grew to immediate popularity.

$5000 PANEL SOLD FOR $2.50.

Library Thief's Plunder Quickly Identified by an Expert.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The original panel, from which is taken Sir David Wilkie's famous painting, "Blind Man's Buff," and which was stolen from the Lenox Library a few days ago, has been found.

The panel is valued at $500. The thief sold it to a Forty-second street dealer for $2.50.

An actor furnished the first public clue to the find. He happened to be in the store when the picture was carried in by the stranger and offered for sale at $2. The dealer offered half that sum, and obtained the picture.

Thinking he recognized the panel, the actor went at once to the library and examined a lithograph copy which showed that he was right. Returning to the shop he found that the picture also had been identified by the dealer, and arrangements were made for its return to the library.

Monday evening, when "The Race Problem" will be discussed.

$20,000 FOR HIS FRUGALITY

Lewis F. Bierman Is Especially Remembered in the Will of His Father, Who Left Large Estate.

Lewis F. Bierman, a son of the late Lewis Bierman of 2510 Washington avenue, is to be rewarded for habits of frugality by the increasing of his bequest from $1,000 to $20,000, according to the terms of the father's will, filed for probate Thursday, as told in the late editions of the Post-Dispatch. The estate, amounting to about $500,000, is left in trust, Mrs. Bierman to have the home, with the right of sale, and an allowance of $300 each month, and the two daughters to have $50 a month each. At the end of the trust period, when the youngest child becomes of age, the property is to be divided equally to Mrs. Bierman, William H. Bierman, Gertrude E. Bierman and Mildred Bierman, except for the sum allotted to Lewis Bierman, and $500 for Harry McDonald, a stepson, and $500 for Florence E. McDonald.

Dogs and Cats at the Fair.

Pedigree cats and dogs are sometimes as nervous as ordinary men and women who visit Expositions. This is the conclusion of the World's Fair management upon which it has based extensive preparations to care for men and women, dogs and cats.

WORLD'S FAIR IN COLORS!

Eleven years ago, at the time of the Chicago Exposition, newspaper color printing did not exist. It was in its infancy four years ago, at the time of the Paris Exposition, and has not yet even reached Europe. Therefore the series of World's Fair color pages which the Sunday Post-Dispatch is now commencing represents the first attempt to illustrate a great international exposition by means of this new and striking journalistic innovation.

The buildings being finished, the frame is now ready for the picture. The Fair is a living thing, instinct with human interest, full of color, motion, beauty, with strange forms, and many curious aspects. It will be the province of these Sunday Post-Dispatch color pages to week by week depict the human side of the World's Fair and its people, its extraordinary features, its subtle beauties, its monsters and monstrosities, its charming bits of humanity, its rare and curious exhibits and developments.

Bonans and promises convince no one, and none are made, but the public is invited to study these color pages of the Sunday Post-Dispatch, which form a history of the World's Fair unlike that of any previous exposition.

NEXT SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH

CAN PROSECUTOR DEFEND BUTLER?

State Will Raise This Question in Trial at Fulton Next Monday.

EMPLOYED BEFORE ELECTION

Statutes Make Such Action of Official
a Misdemeanor Under Ordinary Conditions.

When the case of Edward Butler, indicted on the charge of bribery in connection with the distribution of the boodle fund of $47,500 among 19 members of the House of Delegates, is called for trial at Fulton next Monday, an interesting point of law dealing with the right of the prosecuting attorney to assist in Butler's defense will likely come up for consideration.

Prosecutor Harris of Callaway County, who has been retained by Butler, contends that he was not elected when he accepted this employment.

Butler's case was taken to Fulton on a change of venue Nov. 3, 1902. Nov. 4, 1902, Harris, who had no opposition, was elected prosecuting attorney of Callaway County. Section 497 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri makes it a misdemeanor for any prosecuting attorney to assist in the defense of a criminal case during his term of office. He may, however, at any time aid either side in a civil case.

The technical point in the Butler case will probably hinge on the contention that he (Harris) was not duly qualified and had not taken the oath as prosecutor when Butler employed him.

DEFENSE SAYS BRIBERY IS NOT A WHOLESALE CRIME.
Attorneys for Edward Butler, charged with bribing the members of the House of Delegates to combine to pass the city lighting bill, will seek to quash the indictment on which the charge is founded when the trial is called at Fulton next Monday. It is charged in a single count that Butler bribed 19 men.

In opposing the motion so made, attorneys for the state will seek to establish that in his agreement to pay the count $47,500, Butler did bribe the 19 men for $2500 each, and that the count so charging is in accord with the facts.

Judge W. W. Graves of Butler, Mo., will preside at the trial, and Circuit Attorney Folk will be assisted by C. Orrick Bishop, A. C. Maroney and J. H. Murry. Butler's attorneys are Chester H. Krum, Thomas J. Rowe and Charles P. Johnson of St. Louis and David H. Harris, prosecuting attorney of Callaway County, of which Fulton is the county seat.

It will be the second trial for Butler, the first having taken place at Columbia, where he was sentenced to three years imprisonment for offering to bribe Dr. H. M. Chapman of the Board of Health to secure the acceptance of the garbage contract offered by Butler's company. This sentence was set aside a few weeks ago by the Supreme Court in a decision that the Board of Health had no authority to let the contract. Immediate steps were taken on the announcement of that decision to arrange for the trial to be called Monday.

GIRL SEEKS DEATH ON BEING REBUKED

Fifteen-Year-Old Pupil Takes Carbolic
Acid in Fear of Expulsion
From School.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 28.—Little Anna-belle Reinders was the prettiest 15-year-old girl in Union Hill, N. J., over on the Hudson opposite Forty-second street, New York. She was a queenly miss and a great favorite.

A whispered prayer that death might blot out the disgrace which she believed would follow her expulsion from school was the first utterance which watchful nurses caught from the lips of this child who was taken to North Hudson Hospital suffering from carbolic acid poisoning last night.

Because of her unusual beauty and refinement in appearance and clothing, it was evident that she was the daughter of well-to-do parents, and the hospital authorities were anxious to summon them to her bedside while there was yet time. Six hours after she had been found in the waiting room of the Westport railroad, where she had tried to end her life, she revived somewhat and revealed her identity.

When the nurses saw her lips moving, and, bending over her, expected to hear a complaint at the terrible suffering which it was known she must be enduring, they could scarcely credit it when they caught the childish prayer for death and no word of pain.

"Don't bother me; please let me die," she gasped, after her first appeal for death. She gave mute signs of intense thirst, and the matron placed time water to her lips. The child moved her head away and whispered:

"No, no, let me die. I shall be expelled from school."

It was learned that the child was summoned to the office of Supt. Ortel of the Union Hill Schools immediately after she had reported for her studies yesterday morning. She was crying when she left his office. She went to a nearby drug store and purchased with the nickel which she was saving for carfare a bottle of carbolic acid. She told the druggist she wanted the acid for a fellow.

"I sent her home for an indiscretion which was brought to my attention by one of the teachers," Supt. Ortel said. "I summoned her into my office and, after confronting her with the indiscretion, told her to go home and I would write to her parents. She burst into tears and asked if I was going to expel her. I told her that she would neither be expelled nor suspended, but that she must go home and would consult with her parents about the case."

The physicians at the hospital hold out little hope for the child's recovery.

Funeral Awaits Brother.
The funeral of Annie K. Kratz, the 13-year-old daughter of Charles Kratz, will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the family residence, 3239 Ohio avenue, at New St. Marcus Cemetery. Charles Kratz, Jr., the girl's brother, will arrive from Mexico in time to attend the funeral, which has been delayed because of his absence. The body will be buried in a metallic casket.

POSES AS POCAHONTAS OF THE LOUISIANA PURCHASE

Miss Marie Haney as "Saccagawea."

Miss Marie Haney Is a Pretty Indian Maid in Costume of "Saccagawea," the Famous Shoshone Who Led the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

"Saccagawea," the famous Shoshone Indian woman, who as a captive, piloted the Lewis and Clark expedition over the Rockies in their exploring tour of the Louisiana Purchase territory, has a rival in her counterpart, Miss Marie Haney, of 2103 Bremen avenue, who has been posing as the famous Shoshone woman for the art class at the Irving School during the past three weeks.

Miss Jones of the Irving School originated the idea of having the essays of her class illustrated by some famous character of their subject and decided that "Saccagawea" was the most worthy of the honor. Miss Haney was chosen to take the part, and as she was a former member of the class, readily consented.

Miss Haney wears a picturesque costume, prepared by Miss Jones, and makes a very typical Indian maiden.

The work is being prepared as part of an exhibit of the public schools at the Louisiana Exposition, the subjects being "The Lewis and Clark Expedition" and "The Settling of the Louisiana Tract."

Lecture on Life of Wesley.
A lecture on "The Life of John Wesley," illustrated by 100 stereoscopic views, will be given at St. John's Methodist Church, Friday evening. There will be no charge for admission, and the public generally is invited. "The Holy City" will be sung by Stuart MacConnell, one of the choir boys of Christ Church Cathedral, and illustrated.

SAYS CORPORATIONS PERSECUTE INVENTOR

Lawyers Declare They Prevent Pardon From Prison to Get Use of His Invention.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BOSTON, Jan. 28.—It was openly charged today that two great telephone companies have exerted their powerful influence for years to prevent a man from being pardoned from the penitentiary because they "adopted" his switchboard and did not want a legal fight over it.

The charge was made at a hearing before the joint committee on judiciary at the state house on a bill to provide for the release on parole of prisoners who served their country in the civil war. This bill, if passed, would result in the release of Henry K. Goodwin, now in the Charleston state prison, having been convicted of the murder of Albert D. Swan of Lawrence in 1882.

Senator Callender of Boston astonished the committee and the spectators by leading Lawyer Rowley, who represented Goodwin.

"Haven't the electrical corporations of this state opposed Goodwin's pardon?" "In my opinion, the electrical corporations have done everything in their power to prevent the pardon of Goodwin. And there is in existence correspondence which will show it."

"Didn't Goodwin invent a switchboard which is substantially the one now in use by the Bell Telephone and New England Telephone companies?" demanded Senator Callender, and Mr. Rowley answered: "I understand that to be the case."

Senator Callender then continued: "And would that the real reason for the opposition to this pardon, rather than that of justice of the Superior Court, was in fear of his life? We all know that there are many brains men in the state prison, and I have heard of such things as inventors being in prison because their inventions had been absorbed by capitalists who did not dare to let them out, if any such injustice is being done in Massachusetts. It is time it was rooted out—and by the legislature."

CONFERENCE DELAYED.

Operators Have Difficulty in Formulating Demands Against Miners.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 28.—The opening of the joint conference of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and western Pennsylvania coal operators and miners was delayed today by the operators holding a caucus to formulate their demands. At the caucus last night the operators found it impossible to get together.

Many operators urged that the operators make their demands consecutively. The western Pennsylvania and Ohio operators announced that they would refuse to consider the run-of-mine basis and the 7 cents differential.

Murius Eye Remedy Cures Eyes. Makes Weak Eyes Strong; doesn't smart; soothes eye pain.

Dr. Arthur Y. Smith will preach at the North Presbyterian Church Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

CENT A MILE TO THE WORLD'S FAIR

This Is One of the Prospects for Visitors, as Outlined by American Association Rate Schedules.

The American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents, as told in the late editions of Thursday's Post-Dispatch, adopted the recommendation of the agents of the St. Louis Terminal lines, for a basic World's Fair rate of one fare for the round trip, plus $2, with a 10-day limit, for points more than 250 miles distant. Other rates adopted cover the entire World's Fair period.

The rates adopted by the American Association will at once be submitted to the meetings of the traffic bureau for the making of the actual rates. The traffic bureau meet in February, and there is little doubt but that the recommendations will be adopted, as the membership of the American Association includes the most powerful of the members of the smaller organizations.

The Transcontinental Association, which convened at the Planters' Hotel, Tuesday, and adjourned for the American Association meeting, at once reconvened and adopted rates in keeping with the recommendations of the American Association. The round trip rate on the Pacific coast was fixed at $27.50, with a 10-day limit. Tickets to be on sale three days each month.

Other recommendations of the American Association, placed on sale April 25, with a return limit of Dec. 31, be sold at 50 per cent of the double single trip fare. Sixty-day return limit tickets be on sale every day from all points at one-and-one-third fare for the round trip.

Ten-day return limit tickets, be sold when excursions are run, for one fare for the round trip, plus $2.

One Cent a Mile

Is a Possibility.
The matter of coach excursions is left open to the railroads. They will be run from points within one day's ride of St. Louis. The ten-day limit ticket includes the privilege of riding on trains with sleeping cars. It is thought the coach excursions will be based on a rate of 1 cent a mile.

The question of the joint ticket agency for the purpose of validating all contract tickets, all of which will be of this form to gain protection afforded by the St. Louis Terminal lines, was left with the St. Louis Terminal lines.

The American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents adjourned Thursday afternoon, after expressing appreciation and thanks for the liberal entertainment for the members and satisfaction with the prospects for the World's Fair.

Return From Musical Study.
Misses Artie and Enola Calvin, daughters of Rev. P. N. Calvin, pastor of the Compton Heights Christian Church, are expected to arrive in St. Louis within a few days on their return from two years spent abroad in the study of music. Miss Artie is an accomplished pianist, and Miss Enola is a student of the violin. When the young ladies went abroad their father was pastor of a San Francisco church.

WILL KENNEDY FREED BY JURY

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—Mrs. Lulu Prince-Kennedy-Kramer, on trial a second time for the murder in January, 1901, of her first husband, Philip H. Kennedy, was found not guilty by a jury here today. At her first trial she was convicted and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

The case was reversed, and remanded, and during her release on bond, last February, she married John Kramer, an attorney, who had defended her brother, Will Prince, who later was convicted on a charge of conspiring with the defendant to kill Kennedy. Mrs. Kennedy killed Kennedy, who was local agent for the Merchants Dispatch Transportation Co., a month after they had been married. He had refused to live with her, bringing suit to have the marriage annulled on the ground that he had been forced into it.

The verdict of acquittal was found solely on the ground that Mrs. Kennedy was insane when she shot her husband. The jury, however, found that "the defendant has since regained her sanity," which will save her from being sent to an asylum.

As an Act of Humanity

I ask you to tell me a friend who needs help. That is all—but the cost of a penny. Tell me today the name of some sick man who needs help. And the sick men's more want shall decide it.

It is but a trifle I ask of you—just a minute's time—a penny postal. And I ask it to aid a sick friend.

It is a remarkable thing that I do in return something that no other physician ever offered. And I do it for a stranger. Failure means nothing. Won't you do that little—and today—if I will do the rest?

You ask what good it will do. That month's rest will tell. It is true that my Restorative may fail. There is sometimes a cause—like congested—medicines cannot cure. But the very fact of my offer here, proves that failure is rare, for if they were common the offer would ruin me.

In the past twelve years I have supplied my Restorative to hundreds of thousands on hot, cold, nerve, and 30 out of 40 have paid gladly, because they got well. I have found that the cured ones are fair—and not a penny is wanted from the rest.

A sick one who neglects such an offer is unkind to himself, for success means health, and he is out of each 40 secure it. Failure means nothing.

My boundless faith in this remedy is born of a lifetime's experience. I have tested it in hundreds of the most difficult cases that physicians ever meet. I have watched it succeed—countless times—when the best of other treatments failed. I know what it will do.

My success comes from strengthening the inside nerves. I bring back the nerve power which allows organs all the vital organs.

I don't doctor the organs, for the best results of that method are only temporary. I give those weak organs strength to do their duty by restoring the only power that makes them act.

There is no other way. You cannot restore a weak engine by decorating the machine. You must give it more steam—and inside nerve power is the steam. Tell me a friend who needs this help. The test will learn me one under any condition. And it may be that the sick one can otherwise never get well.

YOUR PROTECTION IS OUR GAIN

O you believe that we can afford to sell you something you don't want or that will not give you satisfaction? Our business depends on pleased customers. Infact any business does. Therefore we would take an enormous risk did we not fulfill every promise made in the columns of this newspaper.

With this point in mind—let us ask what risk you take in buying Rexall Mucu-Tone when we say we will give back your money if the remedy doesn't give satisfaction.

If we didn't believe that 98 per cent. of all who have taken Mucu-Tone have been benefited, we would not publish this advertisement.

There are any number of people right here at home who will gladly testify to Mucu-Tone's wonderful virtues, and if you call we'll gladly refer you to them. Read what Mr. Matt. Dillon writes:

"My little girl had catarrh so badly that the disease had begun to eat into the cartilage of the nose. Snuffs and instruments failed to do more than give temporary relief. I saw the advertisements of Mucu-Tone, but I could not believe that anything taken in the stomach could cure the sore membranes of the nose. However, I took advantage of your free trial offer and my girl began taking your remedy according to directions. I want to say right here that Mucu-Tone is certainly the greatest medical discovery of the times, and to thank you for the liberal offer that first induced me to give it a trial. Mucu-Tone has cured my daughter's catarrh completely. The discharge has stopped altogether and her breath is as sweet as can be. Again thanking you, MATT. DILLON, 24 N. Swans St., Albany, N. Y."

If you suffer from any of the following symptoms, we know that Mucu-Tone will immediately cure you. If it doesn't it's our loss, not yours.

Run down—can't work—feel constantly tired—have no appetite—or if you suffer from sore lungs, weakness, nervousness, pains in the stomach or back, then it is that you need Rexall Mucu-Tone.

Catarrh is not confined to the nose and throat. It may start there, but it leads to more serious trouble, particularly to the wasting away of tissues, which means a loss in weight. One bottle of Mucu-Tone will start you on the right road. It will put flesh on your bones and bring new vitality to your system.

RUSSIA YIELDS NOTHING IN HER REPLY TO JAPAN

The Answer Has Not Been Received at Tokio, but It Will Today Receive the Approval of the Czar and
Its Contents Are Known in Japan.

THE NEXT STEP WILL CERTAINLY BE WARLIKE

Both Nations Are Mobilizing Troops,
Russia Strengthening Her Forces
on the Yalu, Preparing to Receive Blow Japan Is Expected to Deliver.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The Japanese minister, Baron Hayashi, said today: "Russia's reply to Japan's last note has not been sent to Tokio, and has not yet been approved by the Czar."

"There are no means, therefore, of knowing the contents of the answer, and as to the probable tenor thereof I have no official information."

From other sources of information it is learned, however, that Russia's draft of her reply has been communicated to M. Kurino, the Japanese minister at St. Petersburg, who has transmitted the contents to Tokio, whence it will be conveyed to the friendly powers.

The Russian reply refuses in uncompromising terms to permit the reiteration of the draft of the treaty of the two world powers guaranteeing the integrity and independence of China upon which Japan insisted in her last note.

The clause proposed by Japan was that Russia and Japan should mutually agree to respect the "integrity and independence of China and Korea."

Russia has now stricken out twice the words "China and" and it is understood that this will close the negotiations. It is probable that when this note has been presented Japan will notify Baron de Rose, the Russian minister at Tokio, that she has no alternative but to take up arms in defense of her interests, and that M. Kurino will be instructed to demand his passports.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—A Port Arthur correspondent announces the departure of the Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Siberian rifle divisions for the Yalu river. The correspondent says that Vice-Admiral Alexieff is suffering with influenza, but that he confers daily with his military chiefs.

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 28.—A telegram reported to have been sent by the Russian military attaché at Tokio, was received yesterday. It gave information of the mobilization of the Japanese army and had the effect of renewing preparations for the dispatch of troops already ordered to the north, but who had been detained on account of the peaceful aspect of affairs.

The authorities have invited the Russian women of Port Arthur to join the Red CROSS. The organization of Port Arthur's resources continues as though war were certain. The authorities are receiving many startling reports from Korea and China.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The Daily Mail and the Daily Telegraph both report in their St. Petersburg dispatches the possibility of further negotiations. The Telegraph says that the culmination of the crisis is not expected before the beginning of March, but the Daily Mail says that the St. Petersburg bureau. A dispatch to the Standard from Tokio says that according to information from a sure source large bodies of Russian troops are being moved to the Korean frontier from Manchurian Chang and other points in the interior of Manchuria.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Seoul reports the arrival of 1000 Russian troops at Antung yesterday.

A dispatch from Nagasaki to the Daily Telegraph affirms that the Korean government has bluntly refused the renewed demands of Italy for the gold mining concessions in Korea.

GIVE YOUR STOMACH
A NICE VACATION.

Don't Do It By Starving It, Either—Let a Substitute Do The Work.

The old adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," applies just as well to the stomach, one of the most important organs of the human system, as it does to the man, himself.

If your stomach is worn out and rebels against being further taxed beyond its limit, the only sensible thing you can do is to give it a rest. Employ a substitute for a short time and see if it will not more than repay you in results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a willing and most efficient substitute. They themselves digest every bit of food in the stomach in just the same way that the stomach itself would, were it well. They contain all the essential elements that the gastric juice and other digestive fluids of the stomach contain and actually do just the same and do just the same work as the natural fluids would, were the stomach well and sound. They, therefore, relieve the stomach, just as one workman relieves another, and permit it to rest and recuperate and regain its normal health and strength.

The "vacation" idea was suggested by the letter of a prominent lawyer in Chicago. Read what he says: "I was engaged in the most momentous undertaking of my life in bringing about the coalition of certain great interests that meant much to me as well as my clients. It was not the work of days, but of months; I was working night and day almost, when at a very critical time my stomach went clear back on me. The undue mental strain brought it about and hurried up what would have happened later on."

"What I ate I had literally to force down and that was a source of misery as I had a sour stomach much of the time. My head ached, I was sluggish and began to lose my ambition to carry out my undertaking. It looked pretty gloomy for me and I confided my plight to one of my clients. He had been cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and at once went down to a drug store and brought a box up to the office."

"I had not taken a quarter of that box before I found that they would do all the work my stomach ever did; and as a rest or vacation was out of the question for me, I determined to give my stomach a vacation. I kept right on taking the tablets and braced up and went ahead with my work with renewed vigor, ate just as much as I ever did and carried out that undertaking to a successful issue. I feel that I have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to thank for saving me the hindmost fee I ever received, as well as my reputation, and last but not least my stomach."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box.

WANT THE BOYS TO WASH DISHES

Chicago Women Didn't Think It Fair
That the Girls Should Do All
This Sort of Work.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—"Help your daughter to put an apron on her beau and make him assist with the dinner dishes. He probably would rather sit in the dimly lighted parlor and while away the time with 'lovey,' but do not allow this. Make him wash the dishes and wash the dishes after family meals, but there was a hush when she urged a dishcloth as a means of entertainment for callers."

This was the startling plan of Mrs. Orrin N. Carter, voiced at the meeting of the West End Mothers' Council, yesterday, in an address on "Assigning Home Duties to Children as a Means of Teaching Responsibility." She was but one of several speakers who urged that the daughter of the house should wash the dishes after family meals, but there was a hush when she urged a dishcloth as a means of entertainment for callers.

"Grown-up daughters should not be omitted when the assigning of work in the household is done," said she. "Make them wash the dishes every night of the week. Do not let them make it because they expect a caller. Make your daughter's sweet-heart work in the kitchen for the exercise. They can talk to each other to the music of dishes as well as the piano. I believe young people should have their regular duties. Give them all something to do. This alone will teach them responsibility."

In the discussion that followed Mrs. Carter's address, Edgar F. Hall attacked the gymnastic training of young girls. "I went to an exhibition of woman's athletic club some time ago," said Mrs. Hall, "and I know that our daughters could get better exercise and in a far more pleasant way at home. Let them wrestle with the dishes after supper. There are floors to be scrubbed and rooms to be swept. They can perspire doing these things and it is just as healthy."

Mrs. John T. Ray made a brief address on the same subject. Mrs. Ray aroused opposition when, in the course of her remarks, she said: "Let our boys take the place of the servants. Let them work in the kitchen, give them an apron and set them at the dishes. They will wash the dishes as well as their sisters and it is not fair that the work of a house should fall on the mother and the daughters."

Gratefully yours,

Explosion and Fire Following Damages Coach at Station, but Torch Bearer Is Not Hurt.

A Union Station car examiner who did not know there was a leak in the gas tank under the M. K. & T. coach he was assigned to look over, was as successful in finding it as the man who goes into the cellar with a candle looking for a leak in his gas meter.

The coach had just been switched to track 22, the east track in the train shed, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and barely vacated by the passengers when the car examiner came along with his torch to look at the wheels. The blaze located the leak for him, and explosion followed. When the examiner picked himself up from the track to the west, he did not stop to turn in a fire alarm. That was done by others, but the fire was not put out until the coach was so badly damaged that it will have to go to the sheds. The car examiner was not injured.

Liverymen Decide to Continue Resisting Demands of Drivers.

The members of the Liverymen's Association have decided to continue resistance to the demands of the striking drivers. The situation was thoroughly canvassed at a meeting Thursday night at 1325 Franklin avenue.

A fine of $100 was imposed upon James Hardy, who was erroneously reported as being expelled from the association at a previous meeting for acceding to the demands of the strikers. Many of the smaller firms complained that they had been unable to hire drivers, and were dependent upon members of their families or of friends, while the larger firms reported the hiring of about half a force of men.

Thousands of Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Almost everyone, from personal experience, knows that the effects of any kind of severe physical strain are felt, first of all, in the small of the back—in other words, in those Vital Organs, the Kidneys. This is as true in the case of the very powerful as it is with one of less strength, and it is especially true whenever the kidneys are weak or out of order.

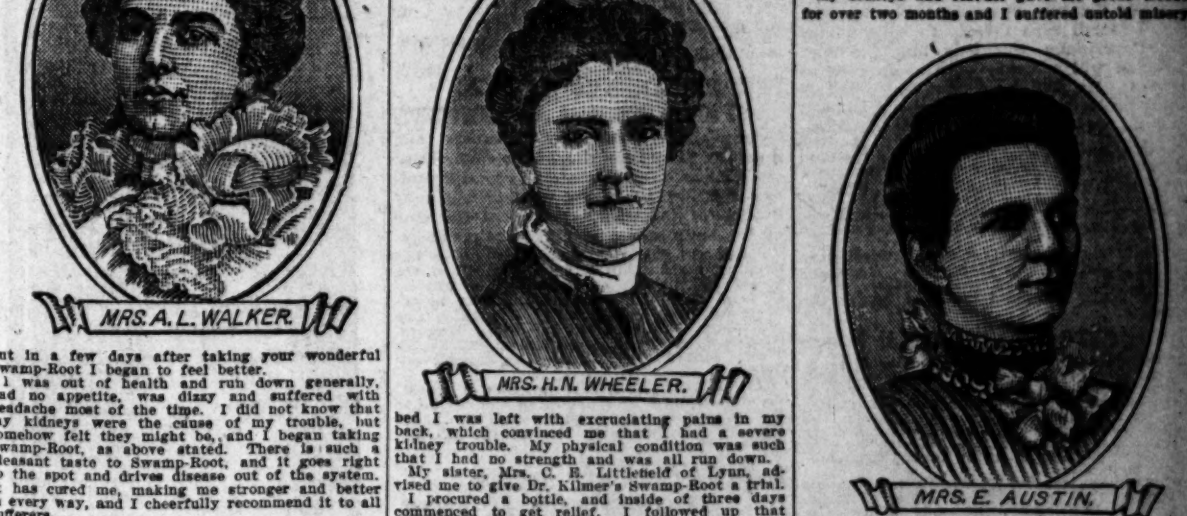

The Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, strengthens the kidneys and through them helps all the other organs. WOMEN suffer untold misery because the nature of their disease is not always correctly understood; in many cases when doctoring, they are led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for their ills, when in fact disordered kidneys are the chief cause of their distressing troubles. Perhaps you suffer almost continually with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and utter exhaustion.

YOUR poor health makes you nervous, irritable and at times despondent; but thousands of just such suffering or broken-down women are being restored to health and strength every day by the use of that wonderful discovery, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

NOT only does Swamp-Root bring new life and activity to the kidneys, the cause of the trouble, but by strengthening the kidneys it acts as a general tonic and food for the entire constitution.

Swamp-Root a Blessing to Women

My kidneys and bladder gave me great trouble for over two months and I suffered untold misery.

I became weak, emaciated and very much run down. I had great difficulty in retaining my urine, and was obliged to pass water very often night and day. After I had used a sample bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, sent me on my request, I experienced relief and I immediately bought of my druggist two large bottles and continued taking it regularly. I am pleased to say that Swamp-Root cured me entirely. I can now stand on my feet all day without any bad symptoms whatever. Swamp-Root has proved a blessing to me. Gratefully yours, MRS. E. AUSTIN, 19 Nassau St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

My business is that of canvasser. I am on my feet a great deal of the time, and have to use much energy in getting around. I was left with excruciating pains in my back, which convinced me that I had a severe kidney trouble. My physical condition was such that I had no strength and was all run down. My sister, Mrs. C. E. Littlefield of Lynn, advised me to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial. I procured a bottle and inside of three days commenced to get relief. I followed up that bottle with another, and at the completion of this one found I was completely cured. My strength returned and today I am as strong as ever.

Socrates called beauty a short-lived tyranny, Plato a privilege of nature, Theocritus, a delightful prejudice, Theophrastus a silent cheat, Carnades a solitary kingdom, Homer a glorious gift of nature, Ovid a favor of the gods. Aristotle affirmed that beauty was better than all the letters of recommendation in the world, and yet none of these distinguished authorities has left us even a hint of how beauty is to be perpetuated, or the ravages of age and disease defied. Time soon blends the lily and the rose into the pallor of age, disease dots the fair face with cutaneous disfigurements and crimson the Roman nose with unsightly flushes, moth, if not rust, corrupts the glory of eyes, teeth, and lips yet beautiful by defacing the complexion, and fills the sensitive soul with agony. If such be the unhappy condition of one afflicted with slight skin blemishes, what must be the feelings of those in whom torturing humors have for years run riot, covering the skin with scales and sores and chafing the blood with poisonous elements to become a part of the system until death? It is in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humors and affections of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, that the Cuticura remedies have achieved their greatest success. Original in composition, scientifically compounded, absolutely pure, unchangeable in any climate, always ready, and agreeable to the most delicate and sensitive, they present to young and old the most successful curatives of modern times.

REV. FR. DOOLEY ST. JOHN'S PASTOR O'NEIL PETITION BECOMES SERIOUS

Archbishop Glennon Appoints Him as the Successor of Father Coffey.

WAS NOTIFIED THIS MORNING

Archbishop Announces That Two New Parishes Will Be Established in St. Louis Soon.

Rev. Father Patrick Dooley, for more than ten years the pastor of the Church of the Assumption, Friday morning received a messenger from Archbishop Glennon, who bore the announcement that the archbishop had chosen him to succeed Rev. Father Coffey as pastor of St. John's Church.

St. John's is considered one of the principal parishes of the city. Archbishop Glennon also announced Friday that he had named Rev. Fr. Dan Sullivan of Monroe City to succeed the late Rev. Fr. McLoughlin as pastor of the Church of Immaculate Conception at Hannibal.

The new pastor of St. John's is still a young man, comparatively speaking. His 40 years have not aged him and he is an active leader. He has been prominent in the councils of the St. Louis diocese and is considered a man of scholarly attainments. His most notable "practical" work has been the furtherance of the organization of home protective associations in his own and other parishes. Father Dooley has served for several years as one of the editors of "Church Progress."

Friday's two appointments are the outcome of the concourse held at Kenrick Seminary Tuesday.

Archbishop Glennon announces that two new parishes will be established in St. Louis as soon as he can appoint the pastors. One of the new parishes will be in South St. Louis and the other in the western part of the city.

Woman Declares Sister-in-Law and

Mrs. Clara L. Henderson's declaration that her sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Johnson, and the latter's husband, Sam Johnson, had no peace to be disturbed and that hence she could not be guilty of disturbing their peace, was so surprising to Judge McElhinney that he was unable to decide the case of hand Thursday and took it under advisement.

Mrs. Henderson lives in Kirkwood, and last May lived in the same house with the Johnsons. She was arrested and convicted in a peace case on a disturbance during their peace, was so surprising to Judge McElhinney that he was unable to decide the case of hand Thursday and took it under advisement.

She appealed the case to the Circuit Court, and there testified that Johnson was "pretty fierce" when he got started, but that Mrs. Johnson could and did whip him when a family row was instituted.

LAKE MICHIGAN FROZEN OVER

Cold Spell Fills Up Scattered Spots
Between Ice Floes, an Unprecedented Condition.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Lake navigation this winter has fitted the crews of the steamships in service for a "dash for the pole," for it combines experiences of Arctic navigation.

Lake Michigan has been at last frozen over, the cold spell of the last few days filling up the widely scattered spots of open water between the ice floes. In most winters, there is a wide stretch of open water in midlake.

At many points along the west shore, the ice is piled up solid until it reaches from the bottom 40 feet deep to an equal distance above the water line. At the crib the ice is piled up until it is higher than the structures.

The icebergs are of great size, and how they came to be formed is regarded as a mystery by winter navigators, as the thick-cut chunks of ice they have seen are not over 15 or 20 inches through.

It is considered by steamboat men that there is not half the danger in winter navigation with the lake frozen over as there is when there are vast moving fields of ice to catch the steamers and crush them.

In the past, a number of valuable steamers have been crushed by the floes and lost. The average temperature for December was 8 degrees below normal, and thus far in January it has been 4 degrees. This average has been exceeded but once, and that was during the winter of 1893.

Signers to Several Documents Urging His Retention Number in the Hundreds.

The petition for the retention of Jack O'Neil on the Cardinals this season, which started with 50 signers, has now grown to a document of importance. Rather, there are several documents circulating, the total number of names reaching several hundred.

Instead of mailing the petition, it is possible a fund will be raised to pay the expenses of a representative who will wait on Mr. Frank de Haas Robinson in person. This will probably be unnecessary, as Mr. Robinson is expected in the city shortly.

The demonstration is unique and is attracting considerable attention. Most ball players, however, consider that the sole result of it will be merely complimentary to O'Neil, and expect nothing to come of it.

O'Neil is valuable and popular, but his presence on the team is considered of less value to it than a really first-class pitcher. Frank G. Cunningham, the originator of the petition, said:

"We wish him, if it is consistent with the best interests of the club, to see O'Neil retained. For 'Brother Mike' is reported rounding the form, and the battery ought not to be broken up. O'Neil was the best ball player the Cardinals had last year, and we don't want to see him go."

"DOM PAUL" IS EASY MONEY

North St. Louis Youngster Throws
Famous Ballplayer in Straight
Falls at Friendly Wrestling.

"Dom Paul" Kruger, the former shortstop and third baseman of the Cardinals, who is visiting friends in North St. Louis, participated in a wrestling bout at a North Side resort last night and was beaten in straight falls by Otto Boehm.

Boehm is a youngster who put Big John Anderson, formerly with the Browns, on his back in a match last year. The bout was merely a friendly one, the stake being a round of thrir quon for the crowd of 50 persons who witnessed the affair.

Kruger will remain in St. Louis for several days before going to Hot Springs to train.

STAMPEDE THINS THEATER CROWD

Last Acts at Haylin's Are Seen by a Much Diminished Audience.

CAUSED BY BROKEN CHAIR

Man's Haste to Leave Balcony Occasions Alarms, Which Prevailed for Several Minutes.

The breaking of a chair and the stumbling of a man hurriedly leaving Haylin's Theater during the second act of "Why Women Sin" Thursday night, and the fear of some other persons that the noise might be an informal fire alarm, gave rise to confusion that came near becoming a panic.

That no one was injured while half the audience was rushing for the exits is due to the adherence of the other half of the audience to their seats. A few cooler persons insisted that there was no cause for alarm, and advised those determined to leave to "go slow."

Miss Pearl Charlton Seward, leading lady of the company, who was on the stage at the time, appealed to the audience to remain seated, as there was no danger.

The alarm came from the balcony. Those seated in front said that a young man became ill and hurriedly left his seat on the front row and went to the rear and made some exclamation as he sought the door. A woman near by expressed audibly the hope that his alarm was not due to fire.

Others heard her remark, and the thoughts of the Iroquois horror became uppermost in their minds.

Many persons in the balcony started for the exits and others not knowing what caused the alarm, but fearing there was cause for leaving hurriedly, followed. Several women screamed, others fainted and the rush was a mad one.

The ushers and house employees, who had vainly tried to stop the onrush, threw open the exits and stood at the doors. As the confusion spread to the gallery and the first floor and hundreds were added to the crowd in the lobby, Manager Garen appeared on the stage and ordered the audience to "sit down." Some obeyed. Others stood and watched the asbestos curtain lowered, and then, as the confusion died out, Mr. Garen was able to make himself heard in a talk on the inadvisability of rushing from a theater in haste before there was reason for so doing.

When the fire curtain was in place he talked as to its use and the protection afforded by it, and proved that it was in good working order by having it raised and lowered several times.

CHICAGO'S CLOSED THEATERS MAY OPEN THEIR DOORS AGAIN NEXT WEEK

The Chicago theatrical fraternity expects that the ban upon the theaters will be raised next week. A member of the Lulu Glaser company who came down from Chicago last night expressed the belief that Miss Glaser would be permitted to go on at the Illinois Theater some time next week.

The Chicago theaters have now been closed a month. Every playhouse in the city was closed within three days after the fire at the Iroquois, and only the Auditorium has since been permitted to open.

The absence of the drama in Chicago for weeks has left some of the city's theatergoers hungry to see a play, judging by the tone of a letter received at the Grand Opera House Thursday morning. The letter was from a Chicago lady who expressed her disappointment that Mrs. Pike had not been able to keep her Chicago engagement, and who further expressed the intention of herself and a party of friends to come to St. Louis to see one of the performances of "Hedda Gabler."

The entire season so far in St. Louis has been without grand opera, so that the promised production of "Il Trovatore," by the School of Opera, Monday, Feb. 8, at the Odeon, will be the first operatic offering of the theatrical year. Miss Delmotte and Mrs. Stella Kellogg Haines realize that they have an untitled field, and they are not lacking in preparations to make Verdi's masterpiece a noted offering by the school.

It is said that Tim Murphy, who is playing "The Man From Missouri," will close his season at the end of next week.

John Drew and his company were the guests of Mr. Hardee at the Fair site Thursday afternoon, going out in a special car.

The Well Band will play an attractive program at its concert in the Odeon Sunday afternoon. Beside the band numbers, there will be a duet for two pianos by Ella Kuhlman-Falkenhalm, and Anna Wieman, and a soprano solo by Miss Luella Webb.

Mason & Mason will give two special performances of "Rudolph and Adolph" at the Grand Opera House next Sunday night. The first curtain was in place he talked as to its use and the protection afforded by it, and proved that it was in good working order by having it raised and lowered several times.

tered the arrangement, and the company playing at the house this week will be given the extra time.

The sale of seats for the Burton Holmes lectures opened Thursday.

Wade & King, acrobatic comedians, will be the headliners at Haskagen's next week. Others of the bill are Marshall & Irwin, Harry Netter, Jean Ingram and William Roedel.

An audience that filled to overflowing the balcony and gallery of the Y. M. C. A. Hall Wednesday night listened to a recital given by the advanced pupils of the Strangers' Conservatory. The program was according to arrangement by music and Miss Annie Von Der Ahe. Among the participants were the Misses Annie Geyer, Lulu Stockby, Eleonora Gold-bach, Ida Clemens, Lotta Krenning, Mrs. Jessie B. Jeffries and Mr. Hubert Bauer-sachs. Miss Margaret Strawn of Jerseyville, Ill., a very promising pupil, was detained at home by the exigencies of travel and her number, Chopin's A flat major ballad, was omitted. Miss Krenning sang the difficult "Una Voce Poco Fa" in Italian, and gave an intelligent rendition of the number. The vocal honors of the evening belonged to Mrs. Mabelle Hill, whose presentation of the famous "O Mio Fernando" (Donizetti) greatly pleased the audience. The young lady has an operatic stage presence, good voice and a voice of range and flexibility of which are remarkable in one so young. Hubert Bauer-sachs, the violin virtuoso, gave his own transcription of "The Blue Belle of Scotland" with the effect which was highlighted by the discerning accompaniment of Dr. Ernst Schubert's "Marche Militaire" for two pianos concluded the interesting program, and this was finely given by the Misses Von der Ahe and Geyer.

The Richard Platt piano recital at the Odeon Saturday night will be an interesting feature of the week in local music circles.

DID COUNTESS CASSINI SNUB MISS ROOSEVELT OVER MAN BOTH ADMIRE?

Washington Society Astounded Because Russian Ambassador's Adopted Daughter Wouldn't Go to Party in Honor of President's Daughter, but Attended One That Attracted Handsome Congressman.

SAID SHE WAS ILL, BUT SHE LOOKED HEALTHY THAT NIGHT

Representative "Nick" Longworth of Cincinnati, Rich, Young, Brilliant and Attentive to the Two Young Women, Said to Be Cause of the Strained Relations.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Official and diplomatic society is torn up again, and this time the burning question is whether the Countess Cassini snubbed Miss Alice Roosevelt.

Mrs. Alger, wife of the senator from Michigan, five weeks ago sent out invitations for a dinner last Saturday night

COUNTESS CASSINI.

In honor of Miss Roosevelt. Twenty of young folk of the most exclusive official and diplomatic circles were bidden, among them the Countess Cassini.

All accepted, including the countess. Three hours before the dinner hour the countess sent a note of regret, saying she really could not come, as she had a severe cold and her physician had forbidden her to wear a decolette dress.

The Atmosphere Became Frigid.

That night Baroness Hengelmuller, wife of the Austrian ambassador, had one of her "at home" parties. After the Alger dinner party all the guests, including Miss Roosevelt, went to the Hengelmuller "at home." They were eating in the drawing room when the guests at a dinner party given that night by Mrs. Townsend came to attend the "at home" of the baroness also. Among the Townsend dinner party guests was the Countess Cassini, resplendent in a decolette gown, and not displaying the slightest sign of a cold or any other infirmity. There was an immediate coolness between the guests of the Alger dinner and the guests of the Townsend dinner, but no open hostilities.

The drawing rooms are eagerly discussing the affair now, and asking what is the explanation of the action of the Countess Cassini.

The universal answer is: "Representative 'Nick' Longworth's first term in Congress. He is a protégé of the Cincinnati boss, George B. Cox, and as the drawing rooms say, he has both money and brains. Two of his sisters married titles, one of them being the wife of Count Chamberlain, who has a brother among the secretaries of the French embassy."

Longworth is a Lavish Entertainer.

Longworth is the amateur golf champion of Hamilton County, Ohio, and has been very active socially here since he came to Congress. His mother has a fine house, and they entertain lavishly. He has been to many of the White House functions.

Last week he entertained Mrs. Alice Roosevelt at luncheon at the capitol. He is much sought after in the diplomatic set, and by local society. He is 35 years old, studied at Harvard and is handsome and clever.

He was a guest at the Townsend dinner, to which the Countess Cassini went after sending regrets to Mrs. Alger, and he came to the Hengelmuller "at home" in the same party with the countess.

Neither Miss Roosevelt nor the Countess Cassini have given evidence of any break in their friendship.

Representative Longworth is at the capitol every day. He says nothing.

Minnesota State Tribunal Declares Indictment Against Minneapolis Mayor Was Faulty.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 29.—The Supreme Court today quashed the indictment against former Mayor Ames of Minneapolis, and the entire court held that the indictment was faulty.

The majority opinion of the court, written by Justice Lewis and concurred in by Chief Justice Start and Justice Collins, was a surprise to the defense as well as to the state. The court says the indictment was valid and charged but did not prove the offense charged.

In their dissenting opinion, Justices Brown and Lovely say: "It seems to us quite apparent that this indictment charged the defendant with soliciting a number of bribes or gifts from several distinct women."

To our minds the vital question is not the sufficiency of the evidence, but whether one of the plainest principles of the fundamental law upon which the rights of all citizens depend has been violated.

CALL HALT ON CONTRACTORS.

Careless Manner of Connecting Sewers Subject of Inquiry.

The Board of Health has taken up the complaints of citizens voiced frequently through the Post-Dispatch, against the methods of the contractors who are building public sewers. Private sewer connections are cut and plugged without notice to the occupants of the premises, and no warning is received until sewage backs in to the basements.

Property owners are forced to pay $25 for each new connection. Efforts will be made to force the contractors to restore all connections as fast as the sewer is made.

ART WILL HAVE LASTING HOME

Building at Summit of World's Fair Will Remain When All Else Is Demolished.

SYMBOLISM OF ARRANGEMENT

Statutes Are Placed in Surroundings Appropriate to Their Historical Significance.

Although World's Fair officials are not looking beyond the Exposition period as regards the disposal of the various buildings, it is generally conceded that the central building at the Fine Arts group will be converted into a museum of fine arts, and will be a permanent institution, on the order of the Field Museum of Chicago.

Situated immediately in the rear of Festivity Hall, the building, with its wealth of statuary and treasures of art will become a monument to the builders of the Fair and a home of fine arts.

It is built of Bedford cut stone, and its facade is richly adorned with statuary in permanent form—marble, bronze and limestone—while the same general treatment is carried out in staff along the front of the temporary east and west wings.

Just below the cornice line of the fireproof center building, G. T. Brewster and O. Piccirilli have done in limestone eleven portrait medallions of the masters of art. The entire length of the terrace is lined with permanent figures, typifying art in its various applications.

"Sculpture" is an exquisite allegory by Daniel C. French, while "Truth" is a strong creation by Charles "Fuffy" Nourse, by Philip Martiny, and "Painting," by Louis St. Gaudens, are heroic figures in marble flanking the main portal.

Contiguous to the main entrance are seated the limestone figures of "Jocite Art," by Johann Geyer; "Modern Art," by J. P. Hamann; "Egyptian Art," by Albert Jaeger; "Oriental Art," by Carl E. Tefft; and "Realism Art," by F. E. Elwell.

And on the grounds is a definite allegorical meaning. Allegorical statuary is placed where the architectural and natural surroundings form a harmonious unity.

Thirty antique statues for the temporary wing, 38 antique statues for the permanent building, and two "Centaur" complete the plate garnishments of the Palace of Fine Arts.

The statuary, according to Secretary of the Exposition, will be placed in the permanent building, and the temporary figures can be cut in stone and made permanent.

"All this sculpture," said Mr. Stevens, "is shown with the metal which will be the universal exposition commemorates its disposition here as well as at other places on the grounds has a definite historical meaning. Allegorical statuary is placed where the architectural and natural surroundings form a harmonious unity."

How physicians and surgeons have learned in four years the successful application of electricity to almost every disease will be illustrated in an elaborate exhibit in the Electricity building at the World's Fair devoted to electrotherapeutics.

When the Paris Exposition opened the X-ray was a new discovery, and electricity as a cure for many then incurable ailments had not been known.

The St. Louis World's Fair will therefore be the first to show electricity as a means of curing disease in various forms, from that of the "body doctor" to that of the physician battling with the most serious diseases.

Not merely the apparatus but also its operation will be shown. If the visitor is not satisfied with his own eyes, he may also enjoy the novelty of an X-ray snapshot showing the number of his ribs, the shape of his heart, and the position of his internal organs.

Included in the exhibit will be machines for the application of electricity for the cure of rheumatism, consumption, and the growth of the body in various directions and lights strong enough to destroy any part of the body it touches.

The X-ray ray exhibit will contain remarkable photographs illustrating how the X-ray can be used to locate injuries and aid the surgeon. The method of photographing with the ray will be shown by actual operation of the instruments.

One of the latest inventions in the collection of that for taking X-ray snapshots of moving tissues of the body like the heart, the lungs, and the stomach, is for from 1-8000 to 1-16,000 of a minute, an electrolytic interrupter being used.

Other machines will show how X-ray photographs taken at different angles enable surgeons to locate foreign bodies in any part of the anatomy just as by measuring angles an astronomer locates a star.

The use of the X-ray in dentistry will also be shown, with photographs of teeth taken by dentists in making diagnoses.

These exhibits are to be made by companies engaged in the manufacture of electrical instruments.

PARTED FOR MONTHS, MOTHER AND BABE WILL MEET IN COURTROOM

Family Who Hoped to Provide Home for Little One Obligated by Return of Parent to Give Her Up.

Two-year-old Lillian Murphy, whom her mother has not seen since three months ago, is to become a factor in the settlement of a case in the Dayton street police court Saturday morning, in which her mother is the complaining witness.

Baby Lillian was not a party to the fight which caused her mother, Mrs. Maude Murphy of 1451 Cass avenue, to ask for the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kirk, residents of the same house, who was living with her mother at the time.

Lillian was then at the home of Mrs. M. Wallace, 4143 Easton avenue, where she had won for herself the opportunity for a good home by her pretty ways.

Mrs. Wallace had been vainly seeking the mother in an effort to get her to relinquish her claim to the little one, so that she could legally become a member of the Wallace family.

Wednesday, when Mrs. Wallace read in the Post-Dispatch that Mrs. Maude Murphy had been prosecuting witness in the Dayton street police court against Mr. and Mrs. Kirk and the case was continued by Judge Pollard for further evidence, she knew from what she had heard from the friends of Mrs. Murphy, who had been unable to locate her recently, that she was the mother of baby Lillian.

Thursday morning Mrs. Wallace took baby Lillian to the Dayton street court, expecting to confront the mother with the child and seek permission for adoption. The case did not come up then, and she was told to return Saturday, which she agreed to do.

Mrs. Wallace secured Lillian from the home of a family who have known Mrs. Murphy slightly for several years. Three months ago Mrs. Murphy took Lillian to the home of her friends, saying that her husband, Lawrence Murphy, had left her and that she would have to seek employment and live in a boarding house. She asked them what care for Lillian could be arranged.

In police court Mrs. Murphy testified that the attack made on her by Mr. and Mrs. Kirk was due to jealousy. Mr. Kirk testified that Mrs. Murphy was the disturber and that trouble resulted from the disappearance of a bread pan when Mrs. Murphy moved two weeks ago. Kirk offered to prove his statements, hence the continuance.

Mrs. Murphy has not been informed of her coming meeting with her child.

GORMAN ON THE PRESIDENT'S TRAIL

Senator Claims to Have a Letter Written by Roosevelt Last October Declaring His Sympathy With the Panama Revolutionary Movement.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Senator Gorman claims to have a letter which was written by President Roosevelt to Albert Shaw, a New York editor.

It is claimed by the Democrats that the President, in a letter written in October, several weeks before the Panama revolution, outlined to Mr. Shaw the course this country would take. It is also claimed that in closing this letter the President says:

"Officially I cannot countenance this movement, but privately, I am in sympathy with it."

The Democrats have not decided how they will use this letter. The President has informally communicated to them that he has no further information to give in response to the Culbertson resolution on Panama.

The letter has been copied, and several of the Democratic leaders provided with copies.

THIBETANS PREPARE TO FIGHT BRITISH

Warn Col. Younghusband That His Advance Into Mysterious Country Will Be Opposed.

CHUMBI, British India, Jan. 29.—Col. Younghusband, commanding the British expedition to Tibet, has received a personal visit from the Depon-Lama, one of the five great Lamas, who delivered an ultimatum warning him to return to Onatong and promising that there would be serious trouble if he did not do so.

Large reinforcements of infantry and cavalry have already reached in the Tibetan camp, and more are on the way from Lhasa and Shigatse, the western capital.

It is expected that an attack will be made on the British camp at Tuna, when the Thibetans will be met by the British. The British expedition is still waiting a proper representative from the Dalai-Lama of Lhasa.

A flying column under command of Col. McDonald is ready to push forward at any moment should necessity arise.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Founded by JOSEPH PULITZER. Published by THE PULITZER PUBLISHING CO., 210-212 N. Broadway.

It takes a good many lines to get the water out of city milk.

It does not appear that Senator Burton is connected with any of the health associations.

The fire of criticism is getting so hot that Mr. Bryan may have to let down the asbestos curtain on his stage.

The decent citizen is not staying away from primaries because he is afraid of Indians. He is just careless of Indians.

SENATOR BAILEY AND HIS INSTRUCTIONS.

Senator Bailey's declaration that he will vote against the Panama treaty, even in the face of instructions from the Texas legislature, revives the memory of an old theory not yet entirely dead.

The notion that a senator held his position subject to the pleasure of the legislature of his state was once very strong, especially in the South. John Tyler was a member of the Senate during the fiery years of Andrew Jackson. The Virginia legislature instructed him to vote for the famous "expunging resolution." He promptly resigned, on the ground that he could not conscientiously obey.

When L. Q. C. Lamar was a senator from Mississippi he voted contrary to the instructions of the legislature and the public opinion of the state sustained him.

Senator Bailey will probably not suffer if he votes his own convictions and disregards the "instructions." The later opinion is that a senator is not a mere delegate, but has a discretion which he not only may, but is expected to exercise. If he is to be a mere register of legislative whim, the greater part of his own personal force and conviction will be lost. If Bailey defies the legislature he will gain more by such an exhibition of courage than he will lose by a vote counter to the views of his constituents. Texans, like all other Americans, admire and respect a man of courage.

Don't say that St. Louis is not a world power. Boondoggling and bribery will soon be extraditable in all civilized countries.

TALE OF TWO YOUNG MEN.

Miss Lucy Page Gaston has a splendid plan to reform bad young men.

She suggests that good young men be picked out in the Sunday schools, and to each one shall be assigned a bad young man.

The good young man, shall win the friendship and confidence of the bad young man, accompany him in his sports and pleasures, pointing out always the better way of life and inspire him with a strenuous love for the good, the true and the beautiful.

This is a wonderful stroke of genius. Only genius could think of a plan so simple and at the same time so effective. But there is a question: While the good young man is doing all this for the bad young man, what is the bad young man doing for the good young man?

Should Mr. Roosevelt be nominated it will be done by the thirteenth convention of his party. What kind of luck is that?

YOU ONLY THINK YOU'RE BUSY.

You may believe that you lead a strenuously busy life, but wait until you hear about E. C. Swigert of Gordon, Neb. Mr. Swigert owns a general store out there, and among other things he handles boots, shoes, hats, caps, gloves, clothing, robes, furnishings, trunks, dry goods, notions, shawls, blankets, gents, Navajo rugs and blankets, Mexican sarapes, slumber robes, couch covers, jewelry, fruit, vegetables, potatoes, salt, groceries, flour, feed, grain, seeds, baled hay, hay baled on contract, hides, furs, pelts, custom tanning and fur dressing, fence posts, building stone, bones, real estate bought, sold and rented, tents for sale or rent, camp stoves, hardware, tinware, woodenware, crockery, egg cases, butter tubs, tanned elk and buckskins, seed beans, fancy beans, Indian paint, beadwork, war clubs, elk teeth, tomahawks, peace pipes, moccasins, relics, curiosities and Indian traders' supplies.

But this is not all. In addition to this Mr. Swigert is a shipper of horses, ponies, grain, potatoes, baled hay and bones in carload lots; he furnishes both Indians and Indian costumes for wild west and medicine shows; supplies cowboy regalia, cut flowers and greenhouse supplies, wardrobes for masquerade balls, does custom tailoring, is a freighting contractor, operates his own grain elevator and runs several ranches and an Indian museum, free and open to all.

Do you seem busy? Think of Mr. Swigert.

If Tom Johnson has brought about a 3-cent fare for any distance at all he has distanced all other statesmen in the matter of street railway fares.

TWO TRAPS.

The Ironquits Theater in Chicago was a plain, frank fire trap. Whitaker Wright's London and Globe Finance Corporation was a plain, frank swindle.

Some 500 lives were lost when the Ironquits trap was sprung. Some $100,000,000 vanished when Whitaker Wright's swindle collapsed.

Both these concerns flourished on official neglect.

Had any one of a dozen public officers in Chicago done his duty the awful holocaust would have been averted.

Had any one of a hundred men in public office in England asked a few questions concerning Whitaker Wright's gaudy bubble, thousands of Englishmen would not now be mourning their lost money and poor Lord Dufferin would probably be living in honor.

These traps and swindles are too common. While the law does not guarantee protection from consequences of folly it does guarantee certain safeguards for life and property and appoints public servants to see that its mandates are obeyed. The fault is not in the law, but in the officials who do not enforce it.

Get into the smoke to keep warm when the great cold comes. Out beyond the city's smoke the mercury drops away below the city's figures. It may become necessary to give the smoke inspectors January and February vacations, though some perverse cynics profess to think those officials have been on a vacation all the time.

HANNA AND ROOSEVELT.

Notwithstanding the showy cordiality at the Payne dinner, it is not believed that Hanna and Roosevelt really love one another better than figs or long life.

Whatever may be the preference of the mass of the Republic party, it is certain that the shrewd party managers do not like Mr. Roosevelt. They accept him and will shout for him if they must, but they will not lose an opportunity or neglect a pretext to retire him as "unavailable."

Hanna stands for the calculable, Roosevelt for the incalculable. The difference is so broad that Republican business interests, from legitimate finance to the corner grocery, cannot but appreciate it. Politically, the American people don't like the erratic and the startling, and as between Roosevelt and Hanna there can be no question.

The one kicks over precedent and goes on his whimsical way. It is doubtful if the concept of continuity ever entered Theodore Roosevelt's mind as a principle of public policy or private conduct. Hanna hugs precedent, and though capable of daring, he is too acute to depart from the path of routine thought.

Of course, many of the elements opposing Mr. Roosevelt do him honor by their enmity. The high class grafter, the trust promoter, the financial schemer—all dislike him because he is honest and not made of putty. But it is one of the paradoxes of politics that he has also invited the opposition of legitimate business men. The one hates him because he is honest, the other because he is incalculable and whimsical.

It is as impossible for two men as antipathetic as Hanna and Roosevelt to like one another as for oil and water to mix as one. They are natural antagonists and if an open rupture does not occur it will be because party conditions are such that neither will see anything but political extinction in a quarrel.

No one who can walk should ever wait on a corner for a car when the weather is cold. One should move on to the next corner and the next, keeping the blood in circulation, until the car is in sight. Even wading through snow drifts is better than standing on cold corners.

If Whitaker Wright spoke the truth, what a lot of trouble a man with good intentions can make for a great number of people.

John Mitchell refuses an increase of $2000 in his salary. The shock will be great to many of his fellow-beings.

The excess of heat in buildings and the lack of heat in cars work together in the expansion of pneumonia.

POST-DISPATCH SNAP-SHOTS.

They work every day and they pay every day.

But married men never can have their own way.

We should have spelling schools, as well as grammar schools.

Houses unnumbered and any number of stores are unnumbered. It is all a great inconvenience.

Is it not a crushing of patriotism to forbid printing "United States of America" on private "postals"?

Though many sweet girl graduates may not be perfect in orthography, they easily cast a spell over a young man.

Had the plot to blow up King Alfonso's palace succeeded it would have made a good many people "remember the Maine."

From a newspaper picture Judge Adams seems to be looking as severely at Senator Burton as at any naturalization suspect.

In taking an alcohol bath keep the asbestos curtain between the alcohol and the lamp, and see that no alcohol is taken internally.

When the mariners of the world see the namavobile gliding along the surface of the water at St. Louis this year they will forget all about submarine navigation.

The Schuetzenbund wants President Roosevelt to fire the first shot at its festival next summer. Will the target be a Mississippi bear or some gentle domestic animal?

Tormenting horses is bad enough, but the boys who drive them away and leave them to freeze are a bit worse than those who only torture them while they are standing. The humane societies will have to seek some new amusements for youngsters.

Corporal punishment will continue at Seed Tick School, near Mexico, Mo., a suit brought against the teacher for whipping a pupil having been decided in the teacher's favor.

The problem of discipline is as great in Seed Tick as in any metropolis.

LOOK FOR THE CIPHER AND WIN GOLD

FIRST PRIZE.....$20 TWO PRIZES (EACH).....$5
SECOND PRIZE.....$10 FIVE PRIZES (EACH).....$2

A SIMPLE, easy cipher will be found in one of the six chapters of "The Girl in Blue." You are expected to solve that cipher and write the solution in the blank given below. The cipher in question is not the one given in the first installment, but is longer and appears in a later chapter. In other chapters besides that which contains the cipher hints as to its solution will be scattered. So it is necessary for the reader to follow the entire story. There are many ciphers in existence, but the one which competitors are here shown consists of the using of figures for letters. Four words will be given as a start in the key, and the other letters of the alphabet not found in these words will follow. By the exercise of a little thought and ingenuity the cipher may be readily translated.

The story will end on Saturday, and answers will be received up to noon Monday. Fill out this blank and send it to "Girl in Blue Editor of Post-Dispatch, St. Louis, Mo."

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.
Hilda Gilchrist, a stenographer, is engaged to Jack Bruce, a law clerk. Her late uncle, whose sole heiress she is, was reputed rich. Hyde Clayton, Hilda's employer, is anxious to marry her in order to find some clue to this uncle's estate. Clayton's best friend, Ezra Raynor, offers to help him master the fortune. Hilda discovers in a strong box of her uncle an apparently blank sheet of paper. On this paper words and figures are treated in cryptic form. It contains directions to the whereabouts of the fortune. Clayton and Raynor gain access to the safe-deposit vaults, where they believe the fortune is kept. They are interrupted by Harry Furlong, an employee of the safe-deposit company.

CHAPTER V.

One Wasted Crime—And Another.

"DON'T shoot!" whispered Clayton. "These vaults are not sound-proof and we'll have the police catching us like rats in a trap. Cold steel is the thing. But shut him instead if you can."

It was a strange picture that the one flickering gas jet disclosed. The low-ceiled, stone-floored room, the dim corners and gloomy walls seemed alive with lurking shapes; the pale, furious man charging empty-handed on the two white-masked robbers, the faint glitter of steel in Raynor's hand.

Taking no heed of Ezra, who stood somewhat in the background, Furlong rushed at Clayton and aimed a furious blow for his masked face.

Clayton blocked the blow and, relying on his great strength and weight, closed with his lighter opponent. He found himself in a grip of steel.

Back and forth the fighters reeled, now circling in the center of the room, now coming off the walls. And ever about them crept Raynor, knife in hand, ready to put a sudden and fatal end to the combat the moment they should remain stationary long enough for his knife to strike a vital spot.

Through a mist of red, Clayton caught one glimpse of his alert best friend. "Don't stab!" he cried, "I can't recognize you. A blow on the head from your pistol butt will do the trick."

Dimly Furlong caught the import of the words. He had just succeeded in gaining the old-fashioned "underhand" and, with both arms twisted about the small of Clayton's back and his chin buried in the hollow between Clayton's shoulder and collarbone, was forcing his foe gradually backward, until the latter's spine threatened to snap.

As the sense of Clayton's speech slowly began to penetrate one of his arms and legs, before Clayton could guess his purpose, snatched off the handkerchief mask.

As he did so he released his grip through sheer surprise, and staggered back a step. "Mr. Clayton," he panted amazedly, "Mr. Clayton, the lawyer—a common bank robber."

"We must kill him," said Hyde calmly. "We can't let him live with that knowledge. Take him, Ezra."

He spoke as if urging a dog on to attack. And obedient as a dog, Ezra Raynor, snarling with hate and rage, flung himself, knife in hand, on Furlong.

What followed is neither pleasant nor profitable to describe.

When Ezra had wiped his knife clean of the dead man's blood he did not put the weapon back in its sheath or in the inner pocket whence he had taken it.

With a covert glance at Clayton he thrust the knife into his breast pocket whence it could more readily be drawn.

It was no part of Ezra's plan that he and Hyde Clayton should share equally (according to their agreement), in whatever treasure the strong-box might contain.

Life intended, as he and Muriel had planned, to stick to Clayton as long as the latter could be of use to him and then to throw him over. The particular form of "throwing him over," which now suggested itself to Ezra's mind, was to stab him to death and leave his body beside Furlong's, a knife in the hand of each. In the morning it would be supposed that each of the two victims had killed the other.

But, a cool, calculating element in his nature led the murderer to defer the second crime until he might determine whether the contents of the box warranted such exertion.

It is even to be feared that his promise to share his gains with Muriel did not enter largely into his calculations. Wealth and freedom, he argued, were infinitely preferable to half that wealth and the encumbrance of a shrewish woman for whom he did care for.

"Come!" exclaimed Clayton, shaking off the sick horror that he sensed he had just witnessed had cast over him. "Let's get at the box and begone. It isn't theft, but murder, we must answer for if we're caught now."

Taking out the chisel he sat furiously to work on the box that he had hauled out under the gas jet.

Hand in breast pocket, Ezra Raynor stood behind him watching over Hyde's shoulder for the opening of the box.

A click and the out-of-date lock snapped. Raynor bent nearer, half drawing the knife as Clayton thrust back the lid of the box.

"Then with a grim chuckle of disgust he let the weapon slip back into his pocket and rose to his full height.

"I guess this comes under the category of 'Wasted Crimes,'" he drawled.

"Empty!" growled Clayton.

"Not quite," cried Ezra, optimistically. "What?" exclaimed Hyde, a new hope in his tones and peering again into the dim recesses of the box; "not empty?"

"No," answered Ezra. "I see quite a lot of dust at the bottom."

"Idiot!" growled Clayton. "Is this a time for jokes? We've staked our liberty, our lives, with a huddling glance at the huddled heap on the stone floor from which a trickle of blood was beginning to spread into a dark pool. 'We've staked them against nothing! Come away.'"

On the following morning Clayton and Ezra Raynor were at their desks on time and the manner of neither betrayed any effects of the previous night's horror.

A nice bungle you both made of it!" sneered Muriel when in Clayton's private office she heard the result of the attempted robbery.

"What's the best we could, considering the cards we held," replied Raynor sullenly. "What a joker old March must have been to lead his niece, by means of a cipher, to an empty treasure chest!"

"Empty?" echoed Muriel. "You ninnys! Don't you see the point of the situation even yet? The Gilchrist girl was ahead of you! She went there as soon as she read the cipher and she got out all the money or whatever the box held. That's why you found nothing."

"Whatever she found," said Clayton sullenly, "she couldn't have gotten the whole fortune or she'd never have kept it working here. The box probably held some sort of memoranda telling where the fortune really was. She can't have gotten it yet. What we must do is to track her wherever she goes. She'll lead us to the money. Is she at work this morning?"

"No," replied Muriel, after a tour of investigation. "Neither she nor Mr. Bruce. This linking of names sent a hot flush of rage to Clayton's face. To him it was as if he had been betrayed. He said, sullenly, 'that I still mean to marry her. Now that you're married I'll confess to you that it's her beauty as much as her possible fortune that draws me to her. Her face is fortune enough for me.'"

Muriel went pale, a greenish tint overspreading her skin. Her light eyes blazed, but she spoke not a word. Turning on her heel, she left the room.

She put on her hat and jacket and went out. After nearly an hour's absence she returned, carrying with her a parcel.

On the back of Miss Gilchrist's desk stood a bottle of violet water. When the close air and long hours of work made Hilda's head ache she was wont to bathe temples and eyelids in this cooling, refreshing liquid. This was a daily custom of Hilda's and Muriel knew it.

"This parcel," she murmured, as she returned to her own desk in Clayton's office, "that after she's once anointed her baby face with that lotion Miss Hilda Gilchrist's beauty won't attract me. My dear employer, she is as much as it did. Fool that he was to think he could outwit me!"

Ezra and Hyde were still in the inner office when she entered. The look of fury was gone from her face. Both men looked relieved at its departure.

"Say, Muriel," began Clayton awkwardly. "I didn't mean to rile you, you know. I'm sorry, and look out! That chair's broken. It collapsed with me this morning."

His warning came too late. Muriel had seated herself in her accustomed chair before the words reached her. The chair rose and she was thrown forward, her forehead striking the desk front with such force as to knock her senseless.

Her unconsciousness lasted but a moment. Yet it was long enough to wreck her spread future. Muriel, while Hyde was trying to lift her to the sofa, Ezra dashed into the stenographer's room in search of a restorative. The bottle on Hilda's desk caught his eye.

Muriel was just recovering her consciousness as Ezra rushed back, bottle in hand. At sight of the phial she screamed.

"Don't! Put that down, for heaven's sake!"

But even as she spoke Ezra (unused to women's swoons and fearing her cry would be the prelude to a fit of hysterics), hurled the contents of the bottle full in her face.

Shriek after shriek tore through the great building and the employees hurried in to see, on the floor, a featureless creature writhing in a shroud of liquid flame.

DYING IN IGNORANCE OF SON'S SUICIDE

Family Keeps News of Tragedy From Woman, Who Is Critically Ill.

FIRE AT ANOTHER'S WIFE

Attempt to Carry Out Threat to Kill Her Followed by Self-Destruction.

Mrs. Mary Berghaus of 1103 Baker avenue, East St. Louis, lies dying at her home, unaware of the fact that her son, Charles, committed suicide. Her husband and three sons will keep the sad news from her in order that her death may be peaceful.

Berghaus took his life Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Retta Remiot, 437 Collinsville avenue, after making a vain attempt to kill Mrs. Remiot.

He shot twice at her with her revolver, and when she fell to the floor Berghaus fired three more shots, one of which struck the top of his head and ended his life. The bullets grazed Mrs. Remiot's right shoulder and right side.

Berghaus took the revolver from Mrs. Remiot's house Thursday afternoon, saying that he wanted it "for fun." Earlier in the day he told Mrs. Remiot when she was putting on her hat to "put it on" and he would be back.

He said no more, but returned at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Before shooting at Mrs. Remiot he remarked several times, "Poor Earl," referring to Mrs. Remiot's 12-year-old son, who is in Indiana with his father.

Every lady reader of the Post-Dispatch will be enabled by this plan to secure perfect guides in the best modes at a trifling cost. Ladies' Costume.

No. 6016-6017—The smart costume shown here carries out the season's style of broad-shoulder effect in blouse and of the panel and yoke effect in the skirt. The sleeve, also, is built on entirely new lines, having a fitted cape and loose lower portion attached to strap cuff. The upper collar on the blouse is carried down to waist, forming a stole effect, which is very pretty. The model is a good one to follow for a suit and may be trimmed in different ways. The cape might be trimmed with rows of braid or bands, and the same idea carried out in the skirt. The design will not only develop well in soft materials for a house dress, but with heavier materials, will give a charming street costume. Velle, canvas, satin, suitings, cheviot and silk are desirable materials.

Waist No. 6016—SIZES for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. Skirt No. 6017—SIZES for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 inches waist measure.

POST-DISPATCH DAILY RECORD OF COMMODITIES IN MARKET AND FINANCIAL WORLD

TRANSIT PRICES SLIDING DOWN

Traders Were Plying a Waiting Game, the Absence of Definite War News Caused Trading to Be on a Limited Scale.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The market opened with life this morning, but with prices again below the close of the previous day. London, strange to say, came with advanced prices, even in the face of war news from the far East. The Londoners have buying orders here amounting to about 10,000 shares.

By far the most important topic on the floor in the morning was the war news and from the information received the street was willing to think that peace was beyond the limit of possibilities. On the bears attacked prices at the opening, and after a fractional initial falling, succeeded in putting some of the stocks down over a point.

The poor condition of the iron and steel industries, as reported, the decreased earnings of the railroads and the persistent lack on the Stock exchange to give the bears good ammunition, and in the early trading they were not sparing in their use of it.

The West turned seller of the general list while Pittsburgh was a buyer of railroads and steel stocks, selling liberally. It is said that the prospect of a good bank statement are generally good, though it is not at all surprising to have another expansion in the loan account, the same as last week, which was a feature far beyond expectations.

The decrease of $24,000 in the Lehigh Valley surplus of the sale of rails by the Pennsylvania Steel Co. at a cut of $5.00 from the pool price is looked on as a sign that conditions are not as rosy as might be.

The trading for the first half hour was fairly active and prices were generally lower at the close of that period.

The market resumed the opening, and in many instances made an advance over the close of yesterday. The trading was strong, and came out in 100-share lots on the advance.

A feature of the market is the trading in Northern Securities on the curb. This stock is being bought quite heavily for foreign account. The aggressive and appearance of being manipulative trading.

The sales to non reflected the weakness of the trading, the aggressive and appearance of being manipulative trading.

The market pursued an extremely dull and narrow range throughout the afternoon, and prices were but little changed on the active stocks.

The market was generally inactive, and there were apparently no active traders on either side of the market.

It is generally believed that the bank statement tomorrow will be one that will show an increase in surplus and deposits, but those best posted say that there is liable to be an increase in the loan account which will not be appreciated.

There was a slight increase in the Pennsylvania and Wabash issues, occasioned by the report which was circulated that a peace announcement between the war.

NERVOUS PEOPLE.

SOMETHING YOU OUGHT TO KNOW.

"No nerves and never irritable." This is what the Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. say people report after taking Vinol. "It is remarkable," said Mr. Wolff, of the Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., to a visitor, "how many people buy sedatives and live sorts of opiates to quiet and deaden the nerves, when they are weakening their entire nervous system by doing so."

"Nerve troubles are easily cured," continued Mr. Wolff. "It is simply a case of treating the general weakness, not the nerves alone, and that is just what Vinol does in the most direct and simple manner possible. It cures nerve troubles because it builds one up and makes one strong all over. It invigorates the entire nervous system, makes new blood and vitality."

"Vinol contains no drugs, and you know what you are taking—simply the medicinal curative, found in cod liver oil dissolved in a delicious table wine and a little organic iron added. It is fast super-seeding old forms of cod liver oil and emulsions because it is so delicious to the taste and has such marvelous vitalizing power."

Such letters as the following prove what Vinol will do: Mrs. Elizabeth Richards, of 32 E. Montclair St., Detroit, Mich., writes: "I was very weak and suffered from nervous prostration, tried all sorts of medicines without relief. I have now taken four bottles of Vinol, and it has brought back my health and strength."

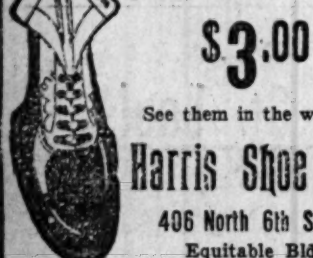

Miss Lizzie Leary of Burlington, Vt., says she was a nervous wreck, and Vinol restored her to perfect health.

Miss Edythe M. Perry, of St. Paul, Minn., says Vinol cured her of nervousness and insomnia.

And so we might go on quoting from hundreds of just such letters; and it is for this reason that we say to every nervous, rundown and debilitated person in St. Louis, try Vinol, and if it does not cure you come back and get your money. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.

Woman's Auxiliary of the International Pressmen's Union Give Ball at Lemp's Hall.

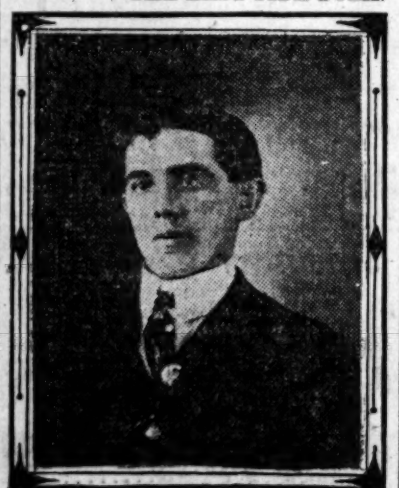

Four hundred euchre players contested for the 125 prizes offered at the euchre and ball given by the Women's Auxiliary of the International Pressmen's Union and Assistant's Union at Lemp's Park Hall Wednesday night.

A dance which followed the games was as successful as the earlier feature. Until late in the morning the floor was crowded with dancers.

The entertainment was given by the committee on entertainment for the delegates attending the national convention of the international Pressmen in St. Louis June 21. The prizes, valued at more than $200, were donated, as was the use of the hall and most of the other ordinarily expensive arrangements, and the committee will have almost $400 net from the effort.

All delegates to the auxiliary lodge conventions are furnished entertainment while the convention is in progress, and the committee realizes that the attendance next summer will be unprecedented.

SUPERVISOR CREILLEY IS "THE EAST SIDE FOLK."

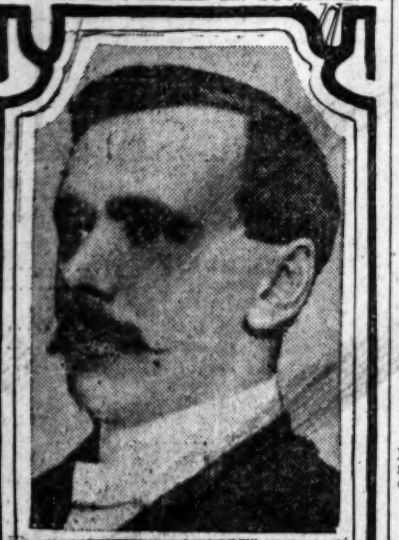

P. F. CREILLEY.

P. F. Creilly, supervisor of Venice township, Madison County, Ill., has been dubbed the "East Side Folk."

When the crusade was begun by the Business Men's League of the tri-city against the so-called poolroom and anti-Coyne administration, he promised them, and he waged a hard fought battle, although the jury adjourned without acting upon the poolroom question. It is thought he will be recalled by Judge Moore, who has under advisement the reappointing of the grand jury.

Supervisor Creilly has announced his next appointee as Rev. J. G. Reynolds of Madison, to serve on the March grand jury. He says the poolroom must go.

Rev. W. M. Gardner came to America eight years ago, and has since been actively engaged in the work of the ministry, locating first in Iowa, whence he was called to the Presbyterian church at Rockville, Pa. From that place Rev. Gardner comes with his family to take up his new work in Belleville the second Sunday in February.

"It Was Like a Kind Blessing."

"Cheerfully—Gratefully—I Join My Voice with the Thousands Who Are Praising

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND"

WAS CURED AFTER YEARS OF STOMACH TROUBLE.

Milwaukee, Dec. 18, 1903—"Through a friend I was advised to take Paine's Celery Compound for stomach trouble, with which I was afflicted for years. My food had lost taste."

"I had no appetite and my system was entirely out of order."

"There was a sudden change."

"I wondered, for it was like a kind blessing falling on me."

"It surely performs its wonders in a marvelous way, and cheerfully and with gratitude I join my voice with the thousands who are praising Paine's Celery Compound. It has made me a well woman."

—MRS. MARY KENNEY.

Dyspepsia—the great destroyer of health and happiness—takes many forms. Discontent, ill temper, low spirits, despondency, sick headache, heartburn, palpitation of the heart, distension of the stomach—all of them are dyspepsia.

Its dark influence throws its shadow on the happiness of many homes. The underlying cause of all dyspepsia is that the organs of digestion have not the Nerve Strength to do their work properly.

The true cure must be a cure of the Nerve Strength, which governs the digestive organs and the entire human system.

Paine's Celery Compound is curing thousands of drapetries every day in just this way, as sensible and scientific as it is marvelous. Sick headache, palpitation, distress and heartburn are usually relieved by a single dose of Paine's Celery Compound.

"IT IS WONDERFUL."

Her Weak Nerves Are Fed and Rebuilt by Paine's Celery Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa. Sept. 25, 1903—"I was on the verge of prostration and could not sleep for any length of time. When I did finally fall into a dose it was only for a short time and I always awoke feeling unrefreshed."

"I had no appetite and I was rapidly losing weight. I heard about Paine's Celery Compound and after taking two bottles of it I could sleep all right."

"My health is now fully restored. Paine's Celery Compound is a wonderful remedy and I advise everybody suffering from headache or nervousness to use it."

—MRS. LIZZIE RAITNER, 1443 S. 9th St.

DIES FROM TROLLEY INJURY.

Albert Schmitt, 17 years old of 415 Vine street, died at St. John's Hospital Thursday from injuries received while riding on the front platform of an eastbound Olive street car Tuesday afternoon.

A wagon bearing several ladders was drawn up on the south side of Olive street, near Eighth street, and just as Schmitt's car was about to pass it the wagon was backed toward the track. The ladders crushed the boy's legs, and he suffered a fatal loss of blood.
